A Q&A guide to real estate ownership law in Missouri.

TYPES OF ESTATES AND TAXABLE REAL PROPERTY

1. When an estate in real property is conveyed, granted or demised, is it deemed to be transferred as an absolute fee simple estate?

The use of a deed to convey property passes fee simple title unless the language in the deed indicates that the parties intend to convey some other interest, such as an easement.

2. Is there specific language which must appear in a deed to convey an absolute fee simple estate?

Although there are no specific words required, most conveyances use a general warranty deed. A general warranty deed typically conveys an indefeasible estate in fee simple. Typically, a deed with “grant, bargain and sell” is construed to be a general warranty deed (Mo. Rev. Stat. § 442.420 (2010)).

3. What other freehold estates are permitted? Briefly describe each.

Life estates are used in rural counties, but are becoming less common. The fee tail has been significantly modified under Missouri law and has become extremely rare.

REAL PROPERTY TAXES

4. In relation to real property taxes, please describe:

- The kind of property that is taxable as real property.
- Any kind of real property that is exempt from real property taxes.
- The current rate and nature of the taxes (for example, assessed value or school tax).
- The payment and collection procedures.

PROPERTY TREATED AS REAL PROPERTY

Real property taxes include land and improvement components. Real property is broken into three subclasses:

- Agricultural (assessed at 12% of true value).
- Residential (assessed at 19% of true value).
- A catch-all commercial category (assessed at 32% of true value).

Real property is reassessed every odd-numbered year.
EXEMPTIONS
Exemptions from property taxes are available. The most common categories for exemption are:

- Ownership by a political subdivision of the state.
- Charitable, scientific or educational use.
- Religious use.
- Cemeteries.

RATE AND NATURE OF TAXES
The rate for taxes is a product of assessed value multiplied by the tax rate set by:

- Any applicable county and/or city tax.
- Various tax levies of districts served by the property, such as:
  - school districts;
  - library districts;
  - fire districts; and
  - ambulance districts.

Rates are set annually, usually in September. Commercial properties are also assessed a surcharge in various Missouri counties in differing amounts.

PAYMENT AND COLLECTION
In Missouri, personal and real property taxes are due on December 31. They are paid in one installment.

Failure to pay by December 31 results in the imposition of interest and penalties. If taxes remain unpaid long enough, the property can be sold for back taxes. The amount of the penalty varies by county classification. Delinquent interest is assessed at 18% per year.

INSTRUMENTS AND EXECUTION REQUIREMENTS

5. What deeds (or other instruments) are used to convey fee title and which is most commonly used? Briefly describe each.

There are several kinds of deeds that may be used to convey fee title. The most common deeds are:

- General warranty deeds. A general warranty deed provides the grantee with certain covenants and warranties from the grantor, including a:
  - warranty of the grantor’s clear fee title subject only to noted encumbrances;
  - warranty of the grantor’s ownership of the real property;
  - warranty of the grantor’s undisputed right to convey the real property; and
  - covenant to defend against title claims by third parties.

A deed with the words “grant, bargain and sell” is typically construed to represent a general warranty deed. Most Missouri deeds use the phrase “grant, bargain and sell, convey and confirm” in their granting language.

- Special warranty deeds. A special warranty deed provides the grantee with limited covenants and warranties from the grantor, including a:
  - warranty of the grantor’s clear fee title subject only to noted encumbrances; and
  - covenant to defend against title claims arising from the grantor’s ownership interest.

A deed with the words “bargain and sell, convey and confirm” is typically construed to represent a special warranty deed.

- Quitclaim Deeds. A quitclaim deed provides the grantee with the grantor’s interest in the real property, whatever that may be, without any covenants or warranties from the grantor. A deed with the words “remise, release and forever quit claim” is typically construed to represent a quitclaim deed.

General warranty deeds are the most commonly used deeds and they provide the greatest amount of protection for the grantee.

In commercial transactions, special warranty deeds are used more often than general warranty deeds. Special warranty deeds provide the grantee with greater protection than a quitclaim deed, but less protection than a general warranty deed.

There are also certain deeds tied to the office or position of the grantor, such as:

- Trustee’s deeds.
- Sheriff’s deeds.
- Collector’s deeds.
- Personal representative’s deeds.

6. Are there any specific state or local recording requirements necessary to record a deed? In particular, please specify if:

- Specific officers must sign for a corporation or other entity.
- Specific language is required to evidence the authority of a signatory for a corporation or other entity.
- A certificate of authority to do business in your state is required if the grantee on the deed is a foreign company.
- The corporation’s seal is required on the signature page.
- There are specific margins or headings required for the deed.
- A cover page is required for recording.
OFFICERS

There is no requirement that a specific officer sign a deed on behalf of a corporation.

LANGUAGE FOR SIGNATURE BLOCK

There is no specific language required, but the signature block should identify the person signing and the capacity in which they are doing so.

AUTHORIZATION TO DO BUSINESS

There is no requirement that a copy of a state registration be appended to the deed.

CORPORATE SEAL

In general, if a corporation has a seal, it should be affixed to a deed or other instrument signed by the corporation. If the seal is lost, it may be drawn on the deed.

MARGINS OR HEADINGS

The Missouri Revised Statutes provides various recording requirements and should be consulted (Mo. Rev. Stat. § 59.310 (2010)). These requirements include:

- A three-inch margin at the top of the first page.
- Designation of the grantor and grantee, with the grantee's mailing address, on the first page.
- A legal description on the first page (or an indication on the first page if the description is elsewhere).
- An identification of instruments referred to in the document (for instance, a deed of release should refer to the deed of trust it is intended to release).
- Margins of at least three-quarters of an inch (except for the three-inch margin at the top of the first page).
- Names printed or typed under signatures.
- Typeface that is at least eight-point size.

COVER PAGE

Although many law firms and companies use cover pages, they are not strictly necessary as long as all required information appears on the first page.

7. Provide the statutory form of acknowledgment for:

- An individual.
- A corporation.
- A limited liability company.
- A limited partnership.
- A trustee.

The Missouri Revised Statutes only prescribes forms of acknowledgments for individuals, attorneys-in-fact and corporations (Mo. Rev. Stat. ch. 442 (2010)). These forms are commonly used, but are not exclusive. The Missouri Revised Statutes also contain additional forms of acknowledgments (Mo. Rev. Stat. § 486.330 (2010)).

DISCLOSURES, NECESSARY FILINGS AND TRANSFER TAXES

8. Must the ultimate (whether direct or indirect) beneficial owner of an entity that owns real property be publicly disclosed? Briefly describe what is required and in what circumstances.

The only publicly required information is the name of the owner, which may be a:

- Corporation.
- Trust.
- Individual.
- Limited liability company.
- Other entity type.

The City of St. Louis does require the identification of a shareholder of the grantee on its form of certificate of value (an instrument that must be filed, but not recorded, with the deed). Missouri does not have land trusts.

9. When a corporation is the fee title owner of real property, must it record any documents to evidence a merger, conversion or name change?

Articles of merger do not need to be recorded in the counties where the corporation has property, but it is a common practice with respect to corporations governed by the General and Business Corporation Law of Missouri (Mo. Rev. Stat. ch. 351 (2010)) or the Missouri Nonprofit Corporation Act (Mo. Rev. Stat. ch. 355 (2010)). Recording may be required under the Missouri Revised Statutes for a pro-forma decree benevolent association (Mo. Rev. Stat. ch. 352 (2010)).
The vast majority of purchasers in Missouri obtain an owner's policy of title insurance. Very few opinions of title or abstracts of title are used today.

Title insurance charges in Missouri are based on rates the insurers file with the State. There is little or no negotiation.

Each underwriter has a list of endorsements it offers. The most common endorsements are:
- ALTA Form 3 Zoning (Unimproved Land/Completed Structure).
- ALTA Form 8 Environmental Protection Lien.
- ALTA Form 9 Restrictions, Encroachments, Minerals (Owner's, Lender's, Unimproved Land, Improved Land).
- ALTA Form 13 Leasehold.
- ALTA Form 14 Future Advance.
- ALTA Form 17 Access.
- ALTA Form 18 Tax Parcel.
- ALTA Form 19 Contiguity.
- ALTA Form 25 Survey.
- ALTA Form 26 Subdivision.

Missouri has no transfer tax.

\textbf{RECORDING INTERESTS AND TITLE INSURANCE}

12. Where are ownership interests recorded and how are they indexed?

Real property records are recorded with the various county recorders' offices. The counties maintain a grantor-grantee index and the records can be searched by either name.

13. Do title insurance companies or attorneys typically conduct title searches?

Title insurance companies typically conduct title searches in Missouri. Abstracts of title may still be used in rural counties.

14. What form of title assurance is available to a purchaser? For example, is an abstract of title, a title insurance policy or a title opinion more common?

The vast majority of purchasers in Missouri obtain an owner’s policy of title insurance. Very few opinions of title or abstracts of title are used today.

15. Are title insurance premiums or service charges for owners' title insurance policies regulated? Is the cost of title insurance negotiable within a specified range of rates? Are there any discounts available for reissued policies?

Title insurance charges in Missouri are based on rates the insurers file with the State. There is little or no negotiation.

16. List the title endorsements available for an owner's title insurance policy for non-residential property.

Each underwriter has a list of endorsements it offers. The most common endorsements are:
- ALTA Form 3 Zoning (Unimproved Land/Completed Structure).
- ALTA Form 8 Environmental Protection Lien.
- ALTA Form 9 Restrictions, Encroachments, Minerals (Owner's, Lender's, Unimproved Land, Improved Land).

- ALTA Form 25 Survey.
- ALTA Form 26 Subdivision.

\textbf{RISK OF LOSS}

17. Is the risk of loss during the contract period typically on the seller or on the purchaser if the contract is silent?

In general, the risk of loss remains with the seller while a sale contract is pending. This can be varied by the terms of the contract, though most often the contract provides seller bears the risk of loss.
REAL PROPERTY INVESTMENT VEHICLES

18. What are the most common forms of investment vehicle for real property and what are the most common entities used?

There is no predominant structure for acquiring real estate, though limited liability companies and limited partnerships are widely used.

19. Are real estate investment trusts (REITs) or similar entities currently permitted? If so, are they common?

Although REITs are not prohibited, they are relatively uncommon in Missouri.

REGULATION AND TAXATION

20. Is there significant regulation and taxation of real property locally? Is there significant variation in the regulation and taxation?

The largest variable in local real estate taxation is the levy by the applicable school district and the municipal levy. School districts of similar quality may have a widely varying levy depending on how many commercial properties are in their district.
