

ASSOCIATE STEPHANIE BOGUE JOINS ARMSTRONG TEASDALE'S ST. LOUIS CORPORATE PRACTICE

Armstrong Teasdale announces the addition of Associate Stephanie A. Bogue to the firm's Corporate Services practice group in St. Louis. She serves as bond and disclosure counsel to counties, cities, fire districts, school districts and other municipal borrowers issuing tax-exempt debt, including general and special obligation bonds, revenue bonds, certificates of participation and direct leases, among others.

She drafts all legal documents related to such transactions, including election proceedings, authorizing resolutions, trust indentures, lease agreements, purchase contracts, offering documents and miscellaneous closing documents, certificates and opinions.

Bogue's experience also includes serving as special counsel on public-private partnership projects using economic development incentives such as tax increment financing (TIF), community improvement districts (CID), transportation development districts (TDD), property tax abatement and sales and use tax exemptions on construction materials.
