

MADLINE MANN

ASSOCIATE

Kansas City, MO

816.472.3144

mlmann@atllp.com

Madeline Mann is a litigator representing clients in state and federal courts. She handles matters in a variety of practice areas including class action, products liability, and fire and electrical liability litigation. As a former firefighter and arson investigator, she brings six years of experience in fire suppression and fire scene investigations to the firm.

BACKGROUND

Madeline was a summer associate at Armstrong Teasdale before joining the firm full time. While in law school, Madeline interned at the U.S. Attorney's Office for the District of Kansas and was a Douglass Fellow at the Human Trafficking Institute. She gained valuable trial experience as a Rule 13 intern for the Platte County, Missouri and Jackson County, Missouri Prosecutors' Offices.

Prior to attending law school, Madeline was a firefighter and an arson investigator. She investigated over 100 fire scenes and is a Certified Fire and Explosion Investigator.

EDUCATION

- University of Missouri-Kansas City School of Law (J.D., 2025)
 - Dean's List
- Arizona State University (B.S., 2021)
 - Criminology and Criminal Justice

PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES

- Kansas City Metropolitan Bar Association
- Association for Women Lawyers of Greater Kansas City
- Federal Bar Association
- Certified Fire and Explosion Investigator

ACCOLADES

- Missouri Lawyers Weekly Women's Justice Awards, Leaders of Tomorrow (2025)
- UMKC Women's Council, Graduate Assistance Fund Merit Recipient (2025)

SERVICES AND INDUSTRIES

Appellate

Class Action Litigation

Complex Commercial Litigation

Fire and Electrical Liability Litigation

ADMISSIONS

Missouri

U.S. District Court, Western District of Missouri

U.S. District Court, Eastern District of Missouri

U.S. District Court, District of Kansas