

MARC SOBLE JOINS ARMSTRONG TEASDALE AS CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

Armstrong Teasdale announces the addition of Marc D. Soble as chief financial officer. He has more than 25 years of experience in the professional services industry, including substantial time in both client serving and support capacities.

In his role as CFO, Soble identifies opportunities and drives plans for continued growth and productivity. He also works firmwide to assess risk and strategically plan for the firm's future.

In his past roles, Soble assisted senior leadership with developing and understanding the drivers of financial performance as well as providing advice on improving future results. He directed the implementation of enterprise-wide systems and processes that provided users across all parts of the organization with visibility to relevant financial metrics.

"We're delighted to have Marc join our leadership team," said Managing Partner Patrick Rasche. "As we continue to pursue the growth objectives identified in the firm's strategic plan, his knowledge and experience will be instrumental in evaluating opportunities and promoting efficiencies to maximize our productivity and better serve our clients."

Active in firm leadership, Soble serves on the Strategic Planning Committee and as an ex-officio member of the Executive Committee.

Prior to joining Armstrong Teasdale, Soble served as global director of financial planning and analysis at a global law firm based in Chicago, responsible for financial accounting, enterprise-wide budgeting, and financial KPI reporting across all segments of the business. Before that, he was a director at a Big Four consulting firm, focused on large-scale client systems implementations and various internal financial and operational functions.
