

TIMOTHY J. PYATT

CHIEF INFORMATION OFFICER

St. Louis, MO

314.259.4744

tpyatt@atllp.com

Tim Pyatt joined Armstrong Teasdale in 1998 and currently serves in the capacity of Chief Information Officer. His diverse technical background includes application development, technical support, database administration, data analysis, and information security. Tim oversees the strategic management of information technology assets for the firm. He ensures the firm is well-positioned in terms of capabilities and risk prevention, which includes determining how and where the firm should invest in new technology, and ensuring that confidential client data is secure and protected. He oversees IT functions for firm offices nationwide and leads a dynamic team of IT professionals and support staff.

In addition, Tim is active in firm management and serves on the Operations and Technology Committees.

BACKGROUND

Tim has more than 25 years of experience in information technology. Prior to joining Armstrong Teasdale, he worked in health information systems in the St. Louis area.